DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of the response and terminal disclaimer filed 04/01/2008.

Information Disclosure Statement

An information disclosure statement was also filed on 04/02/2008, however no copies were provided of the foreign and NPL documents. Those documents are no longer available on our system now that the parent application has been patented. Applicant is requested to resubmit these so that they may be considered for examination.

The following are new rejection of the claims:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 51 and 52 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claims 51 and 52 depend upon claim 27 which sets out that the barrier retards migration of the bioactive from the target tissues. It must be questioned how this occurs when the barrier and treatment agent are presented at differing times. Clarification is requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 27, 28, 31, 32 and 48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scott et al. (US Patent No. 6,458,387).

Scott et al disclose a sustained release composition which includes a macromolecule and complexing agents or binding member (see col. 5, lines 25-34). The complexing agent is capable of ionic interaction with a therapeutic agent (see col. 5, lines 55-56). Ionic and anionic complexing agents are described at col. 5, lines 61-67 and meet the parameters of claims 28-30. These complexing agents may retard the release of the therapeutic agent. Protein like compounds such as poly-L-lysine may serve as carriers as shown at col. 15, lines 48-67; col. 16, lines 1-27. The drug delivery system (microparticles) is understood to "hinders transport of an agent away from tissue and allows the agent to migrate towards the tissue" by those of ordinary skill in the art and is the basis of microparticulate delivery systems. Administration to myocardial tissue is disclosed at col. 11, line 28 (catheterization or angioplasty). The delivery carrier is dependent upon the tissue to which the delivery system is administered, but in the case of myocardial delivery, a catheter is clearly indicated by the reference. Coating of the microsphere is described at col. 14 and is used to "facilitate targeting of the microsphere to the desired organ" at lines 56-57. This clearly constitutes a binding agent. Therefore, those of ordinary skill would not only expect longer residence time on tissue, and less migration of bioactive from the tissue, but also the same therapeutic effect as claimed given the teachings of Scott et al. The instant claims would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention given the disclosure of Scott et al.

Claims 29, 30, 49, 50 and 53 are objected to as dependent upon a rejected base claim.
